— OCTOBER'S FAIR —

Red leaf, gold leaf,
Dancing together,
One step, two step,
Light as a feather.

Bright leaf, dark leaf,
Whispering laughter,
Dance in memories,
Ever after.

Brown leaf, chrome leaf,
Twisting and turning,
Flaming as brightly
As trees burning.

Swift leaf, slow leaf,
Leaping into air,
This is the start of October's Fair.

VALLEY GARDENS

General Stomacher, who underwent an operation for the removal of a ruptured appendix recently is well on the way to recovery. We hope that by the time this notice appears he will be at home again.

We take this opportunity of welcoming Mr and Mrs John Hickey and family to our district. Mr Hickey is the present teacher at Valley Gardens school and we hope reports of interesting science lessons which are proving popular with the pupils.

There are rumors afloat concerning school activities in connection with Hallowe'en. Watch this column for further particulars.

Miss Margaret Beattie who is teaching at Delburne, was a recent visitor to Nightingale.

Farmers in the district are hoping to finish harvest before Xmas. At the time of writing there are still fields waiting for the combine while threshing crews wonder what it would be like to sit for two consecutive days work. As for the cows their feelings are better imagined than described.

If this column should reach the notice of the powers that be at Irtana we would suggest that the use of a drag or some of our outcrops roads after these rains, would put them in good conditions for the winter. The present system seems to be to build a good road and then to forget about it.

The Nightingale W. I. held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs F.
Hartman. The president, Mrs Arthur Kinnert was in the chair. There were ten members and two visitors present.
Arrangements were made for a bazaar to be held before Xmas, the date will be announced later. After a bountiful tea the meeting adjourned. The two visitors Mrs Hott and Mrs Hickey will become members of the Institute at the beginning of the New Year.

Mrs Stoddley is visiting relatives at Barrhead and will also be making the acquaintance of her very new granddaughter Miss Gertrude Stoddley.

MY WHOLE life was nothing but one great struggle for my people and for Germany's resurrection. Adolph Hitler.

Why the past tense? Is Hitler prophetic of his own end?

HON. NORMAN ROGERS AND WAR PROFITEERING

HON. NORMAN ROGERS, Minister of Defense hit straight from the shoulder when he stated that political patronage so far as the Department of National Defense was concerned was OUT for the duration of war.

Mr. Rogers's statement is the strongest yet to come from Ottawa on this subject. It confirms and strengthens a similar assurance made to Parliament by the Prime Minister himself. It is especially important coming from the head of a department which, under the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, was the most flagrant offender in political favoritism and the squandering of public money among party friends.

THE QUEBEC ELECTION OCTOBER 18TH

THIS QUEBEC ELECTION campaign is nearing the end and it is most earnestly to be hoped that the electors will reject Premier Duplessis as leader of their government for the next Provincial term. Duplessis has an election campaign been fraught with more significant consequences than the personal Quebec election.

Duplessis' success at the polls will mean a Province out of harmony with the rest of the Dominion at a time when a United Canada is all important.

The declaration of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, to resign, in case of Duplessis' success together with Hon. P. J. A. Caron, Minister of Public Works, Hon. C. G. Power, Post Master General would leave the Cab without a Quebec representative.

Senator Raoul Dandurand is government leader in the Senate.

The Financial Post says: Mr. Lapointe and his colleagues must know that Mr. Duplessis is really doing a shrewd if inexcusable piece of political profiteering.

The real reason for calling a snap election are financial, not constitutional. Had the federal ministers refused to take the autonomy appeal seriously—and they take the stand that Mr. Duplessis had no right to vote Canadian or out of the war—a national upsurge might possibly have been avoided, even if Mr. Duplessis had been returned to office."

An Exchange says—Mr. Duplessis has "tamed down" some of his ultra-rightists since the beginning of the short campaign. Perhaps he has more fully realized some of the benefits his Province receives which under the control of some other province would not be extended.

Canadians as a whole will watch with keen anxiety the results of the election, October 25th next.

The teacher wrote on the margin of little Betty's report card. Good worker, but talks too much.

Betty's father wrote on the opposite margin when it was returned—Come up some time and meet her mother.

Well, why don't you get the right key, said the bored one.

B.C. LIFTS BAN AGAINST ALBERTA

ALL DANGER FROM HORSE SICKNESS IS NOW PAST

October 13—The ban, effective since February 1, 1929, against Alberta horses entering British Columbia has been lifted. It was enforced following the encephalomyelitis epidemic through the prairie provinces last year.

Today Hardy E. Salter, secretary of the Alberta Percheron Association, received word from Hon. P. C. MacDonald, B. C. minister of agriculture, stating that purbred animals will be allowed to enter the province provided the application for a permit is accompanied by a certificate showing they had been inoculated against the disease twice in 1929.

Lifting of the barrier comes as good news to the Alberta purbred stock raisers. For some years they have been showing at the coast fairs and building up patronage. There were several sales pending when it was clamped on. Now hopes are enter-

TREE PLANTING

THE PROVINCIAL Government is doing a very commendable work in encouraging the increase on a large scale of planting trees in the Prairie Provinces.

These trees of several varieties are suited to our soil and climatic conditions.

They are invaluable as wind breaks, as moisture preservers, as aids to prevent soil drifting.

As landscape beautifiers they excel.

We are building our Province not only for today, but for the future. Planting trees now for the benefit of two future generations to come.

Send in your application for tree planting next Spring. See article in this issue on Government Tree Planting.

AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY

THE DECISION by the Imperial Government in conjunction with that of Australia, New Zealand and Canada to make Canada the centre for aeroplane construction for the Empire has project of very vast importance.

It will react on Canadian life and industry in many varied avenues.

First in importance is the large development of industries in the different lines required for the final construction and equipment of a modern airplane.

These will open up new fields and increase those at present in operation, to an extent the lay mind cannot appreciate.

Then there is the commingling of men and their families from the different parts of the Empire, which will make for a better understanding, with one with the other, and is all to the good.

It is a decision which will open the door of opportunity to many young men who have been seeking some field of interesting endeavor.

Canada welcomes this addition to her increasing usefulness and national stature.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

(By H. G. L. Strange)
Director—The Crop Testing Plan

—1931—

A despatch from Ottawa tells us that the Hon. Mr. T. A. Cresser, who is to be Canada's representative in Britain, is taking an overnight trip to the "Canadian Wheat Puzzle."

It would be better put, it seems to me, if the despatch had stated that he Hon. Mr. Cresser is taking with him a wheat from the most welcome news of the splendid contribution that Western Canadian farmers have made to unite victory in the most of large amount of wheat they have produced, and which is available for Allied use.

In 1914 there was no wheat surplus and it is a shame to say that there would be enough food for the Allied Armies and Civilians, but the wonderful Western Canadian crop of 1915 secured the most important of foodstuffs.

This year Western farmers have again supplied great surplus of wheat, which is certainly the world's most important war munition, to no army can fight without food, and of all foods that are required by soldiers, none quite compare with the good bread made from high quality wheat.

The news which Mr. Cresser is taking with him, of the generous supply of Canadian wheat, will unquestionably be heartily welcomed by Great Britain and her allies.

RADIO OPINIONS

AND NEWS Phil Carleton
PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT CFAC

Wayne King With Sweet Music Over CFAC—

The "Waltz King" Wayne King will bring his sweet music to CFAC listeners every Saturday night at 6:30 p.m. beginning this Saturday, October 21.

The "Waltz King" first won national fame with his "sweet" interpretation of popular music. He has never forsaken that style. His organization has moved recently through swing and jitterbugging. The soloist that will be featured with the band is Buddy Clark, whose romantic ballroom blends perfectly with the soft music of the Wayne King orchestra.

Don't forget the time of this new program of "music the way you like to hear it" Saturday evenings 6:30 p.m.

Cavalcade of Drama—

A new program sensation has hit the airwaves: it's Cavalcade of Drama. Every home in Canada should listen to this program. It's new! It's thrilling! Just turn your radio dial to CFAC every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning at 10 a.m. and you will hear the grandest stories that are on the air. The first now running, is the life story of T. T. Barnam, the man who made America "Green-eyed."

Wedding Bells Ring Oct. 19th for "Big Sister" in CFAC Serial Drama—

"Big Sister" is married. For three years Alice Frost, in the title role of Big Sister, serial drama broadcast Mondays over CFAC, 11 a.m. has been in love with Roy Wayne (Martin Gabel). But, following the usual course of true love, one obstacle after another prevented their marriage.

When Ruth Brans—her name in the sketches—met Wayne, he was already married to a woman who had lost her mind. Ruth finally capitulated to pleas of another admirer, the Rev. David Brewster. The day they were married, Wayne's wife died. Hearing this news, David disappeared immediately after the wedding ceremony. Ruth and John then spent a long period searching for her missing husband. Brewster finally was found in California, suffering from a strange incurable malady. All efforts to save his life failed.

Ruth was left a widow several months ago. Now, at last she is free to become the bride of the man who means more to her than any other in the world. She set the date for "I Love You" day, October 19th. The wedding is to be performed in the home of Ruth's younger sister—See Evans Miller (Maia Stoddard).

As his wedding present for Ruth, John has a gold locket made in the shape of a miniature prayer book with a figure of Calcutta, medical emblem of Mercury's wing tipped wand with two serpents intertwined. Ruth and John plan to settle down in the little town of Raverton, devoting their lives to helping the poor people of that community. (End)

Lux Radio Theatre Soundman—

Fourteen motorcycle policemen stopped Charlie Forsyth, Lux Radio Theatre soundman, on a Hollywood street one afternoon and Forsyth didn't get a single ticket. Forsyth had his recording machine in his automobile, picking up the sound of the approaching sirens, and the subsequent filing of the motorcycle motor. He will keep the records on file for use this fall in the Lux Radio Theatre, if a similar scene arises in a play. The program is heard over CFAC, Monday nights at 7 p.m.

In the three or four minutes between rehearsal and time to go on the air, Eleanor Phelps who plays the title role in "The Life and Love of The Sun" spends her free time drawing pencil sketches. "It's the only thing that completely relaxes me," she says.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

How times have changed! So much of our nation's life has changed in the last fifty years ago.

Today's man is a different man from the man of fifty years ago. He is more educated, more refined, more sophisticated.

He is more interested in the things of the mind than the things of the body. He is more interested in the things of the spirit than the things of the flesh.

He is more interested in the things of the soul than the things of the body. He is more interested in the things of the heart than the things of the head.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

How times have changed! So much of our nation's life has changed in the last fifty years ago.

Today's man is a different man from the man of fifty years ago. He is more educated, more refined, more sophisticated.

He is more interested in the things of the mind than the things of the body. He is more interested in the things of the spirit than the things of the flesh.

He is more interested in the things of the soul than the things of the body. He is more interested in the things of the heart than the things of the head.

SCOUT NOTES

The Scouts and Cubs held a joint meeting on Friday last for a coming-up-evening, the first which the group held. Chas Gordon, McWilliams, Billy Polley and Gordon House said farewell to the Pack and were individually welcomed by the members of the Troop.

A period of games followed and wound up with light refreshments being served. Several members of the group commended the meeting. Mr. Gordon, Secretary, gave a talk to the boys on making a success of their Scouting.

IMPERIAL OIL

WAREHOUSE LOOTED

Two men were sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment with hard labor in Leitchbridge jail on Monday when they pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Imperial oil warehouse at Strathmore and stealing 74 quarts of oil and 10 gallons of gasoline.

The men, Charles West laborer, of no fixed abode, and Harry Doran, Piquet, Sask. were picked up by Calgary city police on Sunday. They were found to have 28 quarts of oil, of an Imperial brand, in their possession, which they claimed to have purchased from an unknown man.

A check with the oil company revealed that their warehouse at Strathmore had been entered in the early hours of Sunday morning. Royal Canadian Mounted Police learned that a car answering the description of the one they drove was seen in Strathmore before the crime.

Also, at the scene of the burglary, police found a piece of a rubber fender guard, matching a portion attached to the car.

The court clerk, Magistrate T. M. Weira by the mounted police, on Monday afternoon, they elected summary trial of the indictable offence and were sentenced to 18 months.

The men both of whom had previous criminal records, led police to a spot in East Calgary where the remainder of the loot was cached.

CROWFOOT HIGH SPIRITS

The Crowfoot High Spirits, through their foreign correspondent Pearl Patching has received letters from England, France, India and Australia. The following is a short excerpt from one written by an Indian Christian girl.

"While eating we sit on the floor or mats with legs crossed. The high caste eat from a piece of fresh plain laid, but we Christians too use leaves but only at dinner parties. At other times enameled plates, brass or earthenware plates are used according to caste.

In the morning we eat just rice and rice water with salt. A very few take bread and coffee. In the noon and evening we take rice with curry. Curry is a sort of stew of only vegetables or vegetables and meat, cooked with curry powder, salt and onions. As for dress, 95 per cent of the people walk barefooted. Some put on slippers; a very few wear shoes. Girls between the ages of 7 and 12 wear a skirt down to the feet and a shirt. Small children wear frocks. Women wear a skirt and a jacket. Over these we wear a saree—a bordered sheet of cloth six yards long wound round from waist to feet. Men wear a shirt and a cloth, three yards long wound below the waist.

The foreign missionaries want the natives to look after the churches they have established and take the responsibility of spreading the gospel. My father has taken over this work. It is mostly the lowest caste of people who are accepting Christ. These are oppressed by the rich and high castes who sometimes won't even give them any work. So to help these poor Christians some missionaries have introduced crocheting among the women, which we have to dispose of through countries like yours.
